which will permit the inspection of soft drinks, and thereby add $500,000 annually to the state revenues.

Mr. Mosby says that under our present statute and the court decisions construing it, we are collecting fees upon all so-called temperance drinks which contain malt and are held to be malt liquors, and that the terms of the statute could be easily enlarged to include those effervescent beverages which do not contain malt or alcohol in any degree.

"Soft drinks as well as other drinks may contain harmful ingredients," said Mr. Mosby, "and the reasons for safeguarding the public health are as strong in the one case as they are in the other. These non-alcoholic beverages are a luxury, just as the alcoholic ones are, and the inspection fee placed upon them could not be regarded as a burden upon any necessary of life."

BULLETINS DESCRIBE NEW FIRE RATE LAW

Act Which Will Give Columbia Better Standing Explained by Commissioner.

WILL STOP REBATES

C. G. Revelle Says Agents May Share Profits Only With Legitimate Brokers.

The new Missouri fire rate law, under the provisions of which Columbia has applied for rating as a 3 1/2 town is fully explained in two official bulletins which were sent out to the fire insurance companies doing business in Missouri. In the bulletins Charles G. Revelle, the state superintendent of insurance, outlines the provisions of the act and gives his construction of their meaning.

The most important provision of the law makes it unlawful for any agent or company directly or indirectly to give any rebate or concession, and the insurance department holds it is a rebate for a licensed agent to pay any part of his commission to any person not a licensed broker.

According to the bulletin, the only way in which a person can participate in the commission is to obtain a license as a broker from the state department. And the department has the authority to revoke the license of a broker for cause. When it is found that a license has been obtained merely to get reduced rates on property through a division of the agent's commission, the license will be revoked and the agent held responsible for violating the law.

Another important clause says that any property owner, agent or other person who feels that any rate filed is unjust and discriminatory can bring about an investigation by filing complaint with the State Insurance Department.

Still another provision is the one through which Columbia has sought to lower its insurance rating. It provides that any city or town which has been improperly classified or has made recent fire protection improvements can have its classification changed and be given credit for the improvements by taking the matter up with the state insurance department. This Columbia did on August 3.

P. M. Brandt, instructor in dairy husbandry, has returned from Hermann, Mo., where he addressed a farmers' meeting. "The condition of crops around Hermann is fine," says Mr. Brandt. "The drainage in that region is good and the people took care of their crops. The wheat was injured by the Hessian fly and the yield will be lowered.
